

CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS

Youth exchange in the Catalan Pyrenees about stereotypes and nature this summer!

Think global, act rural II

A Youth Exchange is a learning project financed by the European Commission where youngsters from different countries have a meeting in one of the countries to discuss different social topics through non-formal education. Each group of participants will travel with a coordinator from the same country. In this specific Youth Exchange we count on participants from Portugal, Slovenia and Catalonia.

This Youth Exchange is located in a Refugi in Vall de Siarb, the Catalan Pyrenees, and it consists in raising the awareness against racism and sexism through the analysis of sustainability and interculturality, and also through cultural and gender stereotypes, diverse identities and conservation and discovery of the natural environment.

How will be the activities?

The group will do different activities based in non-formal dynamics and non-formal education to discuss and reflect about the cultural and gender stereotypes that are there in our society and how it is lived in the different countries of origin.
