The rest of the time, they will lead workshops and games; awareness-raising activities, and will set up an environmental education tool allowing eco-citizen engagement with various beneficiaries who attend the Nasr socio-cultural and sports center.

During this international project, a local technical team will always be present and available to support and supervise the volunteers in all the activities.

I-The objectives:

The project will contribute to:

- ✓ Make education a tool for respecting the environment and adopting behaviors that reinforce the integration of ecology. in our day-to-day life, essential components of daily life for residents and students;

- ✓ Discuss and educate citizens around a civic environmental culture.

2-Activities:

With teachers, administrative staff; students and their parents at school:

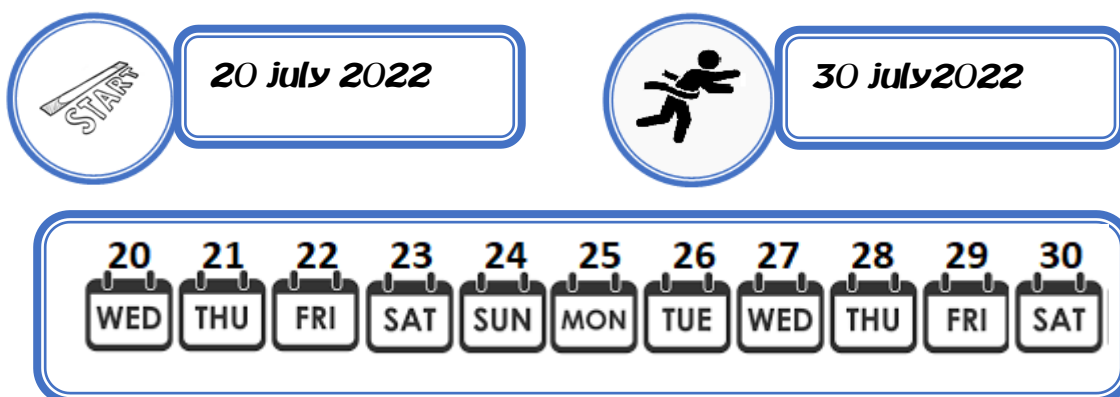

The activities offered during the workcamp at school will be relatively easy to set up, in fact they will take the form of simple gardening, recycling activities, etc. The students will always find it fun to contribute.

5- location of the site and activities:

All activities will take place in the following two locations:

Location I: Yahya Gourari school

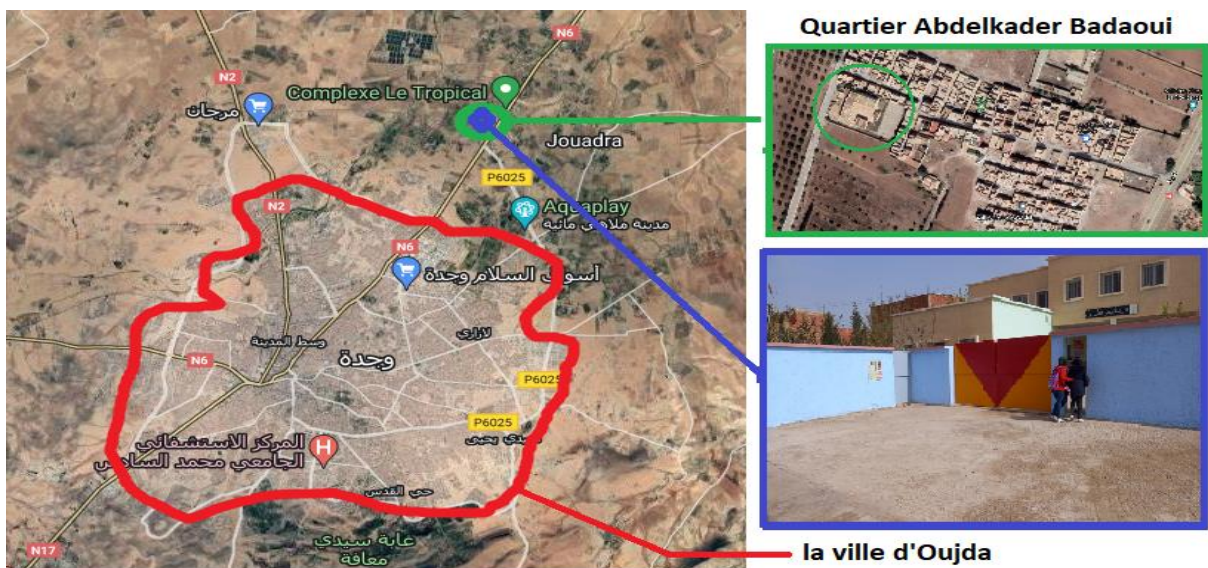

-Public sector

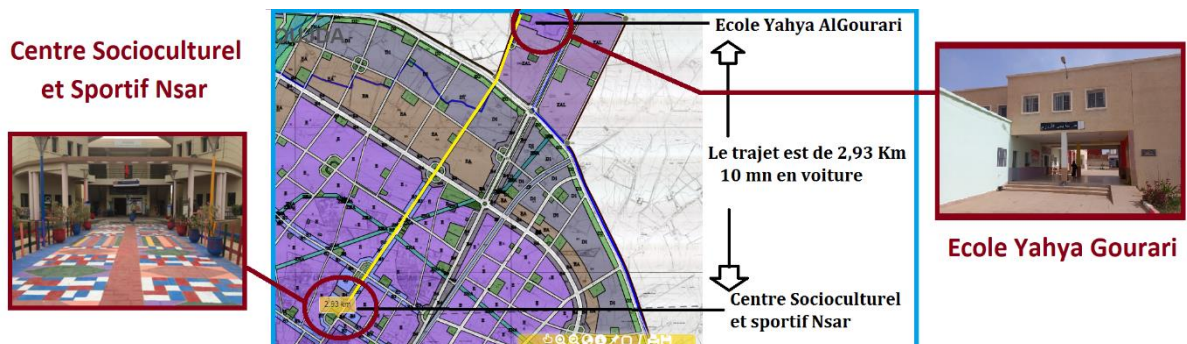

-Year of creation: 2014

-City: OUJDA

- Area: 5000 square meters
- Number of students: 250
- Administrative staff: 06
- Teachers:10
- Number of classes: 12
- Address: Abdelkader Badaoui district

-The school is located 2930 m from the Sociocultural and Sports Center Nsar.

- Why this school?

The preservation of the environment and the integration of ecology into daily life is not yet a priority for the inhabitants of the Abdelkader Badaoui district, where the school is located.

In addition, the courses within the Yahya Gourari school do not largely address environmental and ecological preservation as a main subject, because their treatment remains dependent on the level of real involvement of the institution. That is to say, the deepening of awareness and the implementation of initiatives and projects related to the environment and ecology are not mandatory in the first place.

As a result, the activities during the July 2022 construction site at the school will revolve around two components:

- ✓ The first: concerns the technical works mainly related to the creation of ecological green spaces in the establishment,
- ✓ The second: a set of cultural and awareness-raising activities linked to the creation of mural frescoes on the various walls of the school around environmental and ecological themes, as well as the organization of recycling workshops and competitions on environmental and ecological themes.

NB: Among the important activities to ensure continuity within the school, we will work on the creation of an ecological club in the school, which will be accompanied by the Espace Volontariat Oujda "EVO", and the association of neighborhood for development.
